Michael P. Webb

Michael P. Webb is a long-term entrepreneur, small-business owner, and real estate investor from Leeds, Utah. Married with four children and six grandchildren, Michael has devoted much of his adult life to building businesses, investing in real estate, and helping small-business owners navigate the challenges of entrepreneurship.

With decades of hands-on experience, Michael is passionate about sharing practical strategies that can help business owners protect what they have worked so hard to build. He teaches strategies designed to help reduce the risk of costly lawsuits, develop effective estate plans, and identify opportunities to legally minimize taxes and potentially save thousands of dollars each year.

Michael works alongside experienced professionals who collaborate directly with clients' CPAs and other advisors to develop structured entities and tax-planning strategies tailored to each individual's circumstances.

His goal is simple: to share the lessons he has learned over decades in business and investing so others can protect their assets, plan for the future, and keep more of what they earn.
